Visitors at the Harrison Residence.

Among General Harrison's out-of-town callers, yesterday, were Mr. Herbert Radcliffe, secretary of the Home-Market Club, of Boston, Mass.; Hon. C. F. Etila, of Philadelphia, secretary of the Pennsylvania Republican State committee; Mr. and Mrs. Gates, of St. Louis; Mr. Dickey, of Jacksonville, D. T.; and Dr. Clark, of Mason City, Ia. Dr. Clark was an original member of Company A of the Seventieth Indiana Regiment, the first company raised by Lieutenant Harrison, and of which he was afterwards captain. Twenty years had elapsed since Dr. Clark had seen his former commander, and he received a very cordial and hearty welcome.

Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. McKee are having a goodly number of callers to meet their guests, Mrs. E. M. G. Brown, wife of Lieutenant Brown of the navy, and daughter of ex-Senator Davis, of West Virginia, and Mrs. Bergland, wife of Captain Eric Bergland, of the U. S. A. engineers corps. Mrs. Bergland has the unique distinction of being related to two presidential families: Her mother was a Scott, of Lexington, Ky., and a relative of Mrs. Harrison. She is related to Mrs. Hayes, and was her guest at the White House.

An Important Purchase.
Robert Martindale bought from his father, yesterday, the first section of Lincoln Park addition for $40,000. He proposes to enhance the value of the property by putting Fifteenth street, Talbott avenue, Delaware, Alabama and New Jersey streets in good condition. He will also put gravel on Fourteenth street. The section contains 123 lots.

Photographs of Elks.
The Elks yesterday were presented with sixty-two large pictures of their resident members by Marceau & Powers. They are handsomely mounted and framed, and will be displayed by the lodge in the show windows of Albert Gall and the When until the Elks' benefit, Thursday night, after which the pictures will be removed to the lodge-rooms.

Local News Notes.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday by Henry L. Nagley and Carrie L. Edmond, William A. Balem and Edna J. Wildman, William F. Judd and Tracy E. Smith, August Abraham and Rosa Meyer.

The following building permits were issued yesterday: J. D. Huse, double frame house, Plum street, near Vine, $600; John Helm, frame house, Dorman street, near Michigan, $1,000; Maryanna Williams, frame cottage, corner Clifford avenue and Jefferson street, $1,000; and Henry Helm, frame cottage, Ruckle street, near Ninth, $650.

Personal and Society.

Mrs. J. W. Gordon will be the guest of Mrs. W. J. Richards this week.
Mrs. M. D. Watson, of Chicago, was expected yesterday to spend a few days in the city.
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hibben have invited friends for Thursday night in honor of Miss Louise Hibben.

Mrs. Henry A. Tidd, of Gunnison, Cal., is expected next week to visit her sisters, Mrs. M. M. Landis and Miss Anne Hays.
The "Winter Nights" Club have issued invitations for a full-dress party at Brannock's Hall, next Monday evening, from 8 to 11 o'clock.
Mrs. Pierre Gray has returned from Chicago.

General Inspector Cohn, prominently connected with New York insurance interests, is visiting friends in this city.

The marriage of Mr. John W. Bowler, city clerk, to Miss Clara VanCamp, is announced to take place at the bride's home, on North Mississippi street, on Tuesday, Dec. 13.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Meridian street, Church, will hold its monthly meeting at the residence of Mrs. T. P. Haughey, 237 North Meridian street, this afternoon, at 4:30 o'clock. Tea will be served at 6:30 o'clock, to which the gentlemen are invited.
Gideon B. Thompson, who, both as to age and length of service, heads the list of the newspapermen in the city, has relinquished the position of city editor of the News, to take charge of the State exchanges and amusement department on that paper. Mr. Thompson will also add to his work whatever he sees fit to contribute as a close observer of men and affairs. Hilbert U. Brown, who has done good work for several years on the News, becomes its city editor.

The first exhibit of the Art Association for this season will be the collection of pottery, china and wood-carving, which will be shown at the residence of Mrs. Myra Rutledge, No. 237 North Tennessee street, to-day, to-morrow and Thursday, from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M. A special effort has been made to have many pretty, ornamental and useful articles, suitable for the holiday purchasers. A large collection of Baloch china and Rookwood pottery are the chief attractions, and are direct from the manufacturers. There are also many beautiful articles to be shown, the work of our home artists, who do some very fine and artistic designs.

THE TARIFF SYSTEM.

Some of the Defects of the Home-Market Club Would Like to See Remedied.

Mr. Herbert Radcliffe, secretary of the Home Market Club of Boston, was registered at the New Denison yesterday, and during the afternoon called upon General Harrison. He told a Journal reporter that his purpose in coming was to advocate to such an extent as was proper at this time the purposes for which the club was founded, namely, the securing of the enforcement of an efficient tariff system which would prevent the undervaluations and other abuses by which the present customs laws are rendered, in many cases, valueless. "The Home Market Club," he said, "as you know, has been about the most active organization in the country in the agitation for a protective tariff. We have won the fight; our candidate has not only been elected, but a majority of the next House of Representatives has been secured in the interests of protection. The club I represent is now interested primarily in having the tariff so administered as to give the home market to the home producers and extend to home industries the protection which it is designed to give. In short, the country, having won the fight for a protective tariff, has got to be managed also in favor of that tariff law being in force for a long time. The schedules of the tariff have been evaded through undervaluations and misstatements of value, and the result is that the Treasury Department and customs officers, and I am here to bring to the attention of the President-elect the importance of his administration insuring the home market to the home producers through a strict administration of the tariff, by suppressing frauds through undervaluations and the machinations of foreign manufacturers. The administration of the tariff is the all-important question as we see it to-day."

"I am not here for the purpose of, in any way, suggesting who should be the Secretary of the Treasury, but that department is charged with the administration of the tariff and it is important that the head of it should not only be in sympathy with protective tariff but in the enforcement of the law, so that full duties shall be collected on honest valuations, and uniformity of classifications and practice shall prevail at all ports alike. Now, one article will be classified as one thing at one port, and as another at another port. Foreign manufacturers, by a system of constant goods to their agents in New York and refusing to sell in the open market for exportation to the United States, conceal the true value of their goods, and by aid of the merchant-appraisers system the government is defrauded of millions annually. Under the internal revenue laws those who defraud the government or attempt to do so are promptly arrested, fined and imprisoned, but who ever heard of an importer who had defrauded the United States government under the customs laws being imprisoned. Here is an inequality of justice that needs to be remedied."

"Has any legislation been formulated looking to this reform?"
"The Senate bill now under consideration provides legislation to remedy some of these existing evils, but it is all important that the administration of President Harrison shall not only be in sympathy with such measures but shall, through the Treasury Department, serve notice upon those who would defraud the government of its just revenues, who would capture our home market through fraud, that such practices will not be tolerated. Customs officials must vigilantly watch the interests of the government, so that no port and no firm of importers shall have undue advantage over another, and uniformity of practice shall supersede the confusion and rottenness which have marked the administration of the tariff in the past. To place a protective tariff in the hands of free traders to administer is like placing a prohibitory law in the hands of rum-sellers to enforce, and so under the administration of President Harrison we look for reforms and the correction of many abuses."

"What relation does the consular service hold to this matter?"
"That service needs to be put upon a more practical working basis, so as to render assistance in the detection of these frauds upon the government. In the past these consular posts have been regarded as comfortable berths to give to men as rewards for political service, regardless of their qualifications. We want experts attached to all the important consulates, whose business it shall be to ascertain the correct value of merchandise shipped to the United States. The connection between the consular service and the Treasury Department is now indirect and is made entirely through the State Department, whereas the service of the consular department is almost entirely commercial instead of diplomatic."

Indiana Biography.

Mr. W. W. Woolen, of this city, has undertaken to write the life of Gen. McKee Dunn, who died a few years since, at his home in Washington, D. C. He will be glad to have the use of any material in possession of Journal readers. General Dunn was a prominent figure in State as well as national politics during the active period of his life, serving in the Indiana constitutional convention, as well as being one of the Representatives in Congress before he succeeded Judge Holt as Judge Advocate-general at Washington. He married Miss Lanier, a daughter of a member of the banking firm of Winslow, Lanier & Co., and who is now said to be the wealthiest woman in Washington, having inherited a large portion of her father's estate. General McKee's life will form an interesting part of Indiana biography to which Mr. Woolen has added many valuable contributions, his "Biographical and Anecdotal Sketches of Early Indiana Being an authority on the subjects of which it treats."

DOINGS OF THE ALDERMEN.

Gas, Vulcanite Pavement and Annexation Ordinances Under Consideration.

At last night's session of the Board of Aldermen the petition of City Civil Engineer Shearer for an increase in salary from $1,800 to $2,300 was referred to the joint finance committee of the Council and Aldermen. The action of the Council in authorizing a temporary loan of $100,000, payable Jan. 1, 1890, at 6 per cent per annum, was concurred in, and there was also a concurrence in the Council resolution requiring the Citizens' Street-railroad Company to take up its turn-table at the corner of Illinois and Tenth streets, and to extend its Illinois-street line to Twelfth street. There was some discussion over the action of Council in reconsidering the vote by which an ordinance was passed directing that bids be received from one company for the paving with asphalt the streets around the Soldiers' Home. Aldermen Tousey did not believe the Council had the right to reconsider an ordinance after it had gone to the Board and been referred. Several members agreed with this view, and by a unanimous vote the ordinance was left in the hands of the committee on streets and alleys. President Wright stated that he had been informed by officers of the Vulcanite Asphalt Company that they were anxious to have the Council and Board give other companies an opportunity to bid on the work.

The question of expending more money for public light at this time was brought up by the first reading of ordinances providing for putting up gas lights along Vermont street, between Noble and Pine; on State street, between Washington and Michigan; on Davis street, between Bickins and the southern terminus of Davis, and on Yeiser street, between Madison avenue and East street. A motion to suspend the rules and that the ordinance be passed by President Wright and Aldermen Taylor, but it prevailed after some discussion, President Wright and Aldermen Taylor also voting in the negative. The ordinances were then all passed.

The committee on streets and alleys submitted two reports with reference to proposed annexation of eighty acres of land north of the Third ward. The first was by Aldermen Tousey and Reynolds, recommending that the annexation be made; the other, signed by Aldermen Reinicke and Hall, was against such action. A remonstrance, signed by thirty landholders in the territory, was also presented. It proposed the annexation for the reason that it would be illegal, would subject the residents to increased taxation and put an additional expense upon the city in providing fire and police protection. Aldermen Taylor wanted the question postponed because he thought it was not sufficiently understood. It might require five hundred or one thousand lights to light the new territory, and if police had to be placed out there it would subject the city to an expense it could not well stand at present.

Aldermen Smith believed that there was no need for annexing the territory if the Monon railroad, as he understood, had abandoned the idea of crossing it with a line into the city. Frank Morrison, the attorney of the railroad, who was present at the request of the body, explained the plan of the railroad. He said it had selected a new route, and would come down by the side of the Lake Erie and Western road in case a right of way was granted. The right of way ordinance had been drafted, and it stipulated that in case the right asked for was granted the road would never attempt to cross the northern territory.

An ordinance prepared by Mayor Denny, suspending that regulating the renting of Tomlinson Hall, so as to give Francis Murphy, the temperance advocate, the free use of the hall during all next week, was introduced. A motion was made to suspend the rules and pass it, but it failed.

ADDITIONAL INSANE HOSPITALS.

First Annual Report of the Commissioners Appointed to Place Them in Operation.

The report of the board of commissioners for additional hospitals for the insane was filed with the Governor yesterday. It is signed by Joseph R. Gray, E. P. Richardson, E. H. Bundy and DeForest Skinner, and sets forth that the preparation for the opening of these institutions at Evansville and Richmond has been suspended by reason of failure of appropriations, but that the Northern hospital, at Logansport, had been opened on the first day of July of the present year, and that its work is in an exceedingly satisfactory condition and full of gratifying promise. The location of the Logansport hospital and its arrangement is such that the largest number consistent with safety is given to patients, and the opportunities they have for outdoor exercise has tended to a marked degree the improvement of their physical condition.

The report of medical superintendent Joseph G. Rogers, which accompanies that of the commissioners, states that since the opening of the hospital 309 patients have been admitted, 189 men and 120 women. Of these nine were discharged and eight died, leaving a remainder of 292 at the date of the report. A large proportion of these are chronic and violent cases, the impression prevailing that the institution was not fitted for the treatment of curable and milder cases, an impression which Dr. Rogers states has no foundation in fact. He gives the system of wards for treatment into which the institution is divided, there being seven in each of the two departments, divided according to sex. The first wards are for the quiet and convalescent, and then in order are the wards for the quiet and infirm, quiet workers, epileptics and suicidal. The other two are used for the violent and noisy. This division has been disregarded some by the necessity of relieving the State of its many cases, but the influx of patients will be more normal as the population of the hospital becomes settled. A force of ninety-four officers, assistants and other employees is required to look after the needs of the institution and its patients.

A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

Death of a Brakeman Who Was Crushed While Coupling Cars.

James Coward, a brakeman in the Panhandle yards, was killed yesterday afternoon by being caught between two cars he was attempting to couple. The deceased was twenty-five years of age, and came to Indianapolis from the South on the recent strike. Although he was known to his employees, and among the men in the yard as James Coward, he had on his person letters addressed to "C. J. Strang," and also a recommendation from the Ohio & Mississippi road bearing the same name. His remains were taken in charge by undertakers Flanner & Buchanan, and will be held to await identification.

Thrown from a Baggy.

Last evening, while Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, who live on East Washington street, near Liberty, were driving on Meridian, near Ohio street, the horse became fractious and caused the buggy to turn so sharply that Mrs. Roberts fell out. She was somewhat bruised by the fall. Flanner & Buchanan took her home in their ambulance.

A Tramp Killed.

A tramp, while walking on the railroad track near Shelby street, last night, was struck by a locomotive and instantly killed. He had nothing on him but a coat and trousers, and no home or home. The remains are at Flanner & Buchanan's morgue.

Too Many Peddlers.

So much complaint is being made about the fruit peddlers on Washington street that the police are to make an effort to keep them off that thoroughfare. If that cannot be done they will be required to "move on." As a beginning, three peddlers, John Parks, Joe Battage and Carl Palmer, were arrested yesterday, charged with obstructing the street.

Articles of Incorporation.

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday with the Secretary of State by the following building associations and loan societies: Liberty, of Liberty, Union county, capital, $1,000,000; Anderson Loan Association, capital, $1,000,000; Clay County Home and Savings Association, capital, $1,000,000, and the Car-works Saving and Loan Association of Indianapolis, capital, $600,000. The officers of the last-named are: President, Charles E. Gore; treasurer, Edward N. Richards; secretary, Henry C. Rogers.

Complaint Against a Dead Man.

Irene Bowen a day or two since filed a complaint for divorce against William Stevenson, in which she alleged that Stevenson had another wife and was now living with her in Morgan county. Joseph C. Rhea says that a year ago last May, while he was superintendent of the Morgan County Poor Asylum, the Stevenson referred to in the complaint was brought to the asylum in the last stages of consumption, and lived but two weeks. It seems probable that Mrs. Bowen has never been informed of the death of the man whom she now charges with bigamy.
